IMPACT REPORT

2026

A WORD FROM THE CEO

Assalamu Alaikum Wa Rahmatullahi Wa Barakatuh,

Bismillah.

As we reflect on what your generosity has made possible this year, I want to begin with two simple words: Jazakum Allahu Khairan.

As we approach the third anniversary of the conflict that escalated in October 2023, the people of Gaza continue to endure extraordinary hardship. Families remain displaced. Homes and livelihoods have been lost. Children have grown up surrounded by uncertainty. Access to food, safe shelter, clean water, healthcare and education remains fragile for so many.

And yet, Subhan Allah, even amongst such difficulty, we continue to witness resilience.

Through the mercy of Allah, and because of donors like you, MATW Project has been enabled to stand beside some of Gaza's most vulnerable people. You enabled us to provide food to hungry families. You helped children and orphans. You supported healthcare. You helped people living with injuries and disabilities regain mobility. You provided shelter, clothing, education and dignity at times when they were needed most.

Every meal delivered, every child supported and every patient cared for was made possible because someone, somewhere, chose to give.

Alhamdulillah. We will never take that trust for granted.

This report is a reflection of what you have helped achieve in Gaza throughout 2026 so far. Behind every number is a person. Behind every distribution is a family. Behind every act of generosity is an opportunity for reward with Allah.

May Allah accept it from you, multiply your reward and allow us to continue serving the people of Gaza together.

Insha Allah, our work continues.

Jazakum Allahu Khairan for standing with Gaza.

PROJECT ANALYSIS

Food and nutrition

Helping Gaza survive, one meal at a time.

For families in Gaza, hunger is not a momentary hardship. It is a battle that continues day after day.

Parents worry about where the next meal will come from. Children need nourishment to grow. Elderly people and vulnerable families depend on assistance simply to meet their basic needs. Even where humanitarian access has improved, the gains remain fragile and the need for consistent food and nutrition support remains immense.

For our teams, that means the work cannot stop.

Meal after meal. Food pack after food pack. Distribution after distribution.

Alhamdulillah, because of your continued generosity, our teams have been able to keep providing food and nutrition support to families, children, orphans and elderly people across Gaza.

Sometimes impact is a child going to sleep after eating, a mother knowing her family has food for another day, or an elderly person receiving a warm meal with dignity.

Every meal you helped us deliver carried your Amanah with it. And, Insha Allah, for as long as the need remains, we will continue working to put food into the hands of those who need it most.

Mobility support

*Restoring movement. Restoring independence.
Restoring dignity.*

One of the initiatives we are especially grateful to have brought back to Gaza this year is our Mobility Support Program.

Years of conflict have left many people living with injuries and disabilities that have completely changed how they experience everyday life. Something as simple as getting out of bed, moving around a shelter, visiting family or travelling to receive medical treatment can become an enormous challenge.

Through your generosity, Alhamdulillah, we were able to distribute mobility aids including wheelchairs, crutches, walking canes and prosthetic limbs, helping beneficiaries regain something that cannot easily be measured in numbers: their independence.

Imagine receiving a wheelchair after months of relying on others to move. Imagine taking your first steps with a prosthetic limb. Imagine being able to move through your daily routine with greater independence.

Subhan Allah. This is why mobility support means so much more than providing equipment. It is about restoring dignity, independence and a sense of normality to lives that have been changed by conflict.

And every time that wheelchair moves, every time those crutches support another step, and every time a beneficiary regains part of their independence, we pray that Allah allows the donor behind that gift to continue sharing in its reward.

A gift that keeps helping. A form of Sadaqah Jariyah whose benefit, Insha Allah, can continue long after the day it was given.

Gaza hospital

You helped establish it. Then you helped keep it running.

Alhamdulillah, it has now been several months since something remarkable happened: together, you helped us reach the funding target required to establish and equip our hospital in Gaza.

For us, that milestone was not the end of the journey. It was the beginning.

A hospital building alone cannot treat a patient. It needs doctors. Nurses. Medical equipment. Medicines. Supplies. Operational support. It needs the people and resources that keep care moving every single day.

And once again, you did not stop giving.

After helping us establish the hospital, our donors continued standing behind it, helping us fund the staff, equipment and essential resources needed to keep its doors open and its services operating in an environment where Gaza's wider health system continues to face enormous strain and shortages.

Every consultation conducted inside these walls represents something your generosity helped make possible.

Every doctor who is able to continue treating patients. Every nurse able to care for a child. Every piece of medical equipment being used to help someone through an illness or injury.

This hospital is part of the story of your generosity. May Allah accept every life helped through it as part of your reward.

Shelter and clothing

Because dignity can live in the simplest things.

Dignity can sometimes be found in the things many of us rarely have to think about: a clean shirt, warm clothing, a roof over our heads, or a safe place for our children to sleep.

Many of us can walk into a shopping centre and choose the clothes we like. We can return to homes that protect us from the heat, cold, wind and rain. For countless displaced families in Gaza, particularly children and orphans, those choices simply do not exist.

For some children, the clothes they wear will simply be whatever humanitarian teams are able to provide. For some families, shelter means making the best of temporary and overcrowded living conditions while hoping for something safer.

That is why your support matters. Through your donations, we have been able to provide shelter and clothing assistance to people who have already lost so much.

It may appear to be a simple distribution. But to the person receiving it, it can mean warmth. Privacy. Protection. And above all, dignity.

Alhamdulillah, you helped us remind families in Gaza that they have not been forgotten.

Back to school

Helping Gaza's children write their next chapter.

What will the next generation of Gaza become? Doctors. Teachers. Engineers. Scholars. Community leaders. Mothers and fathers who help rebuild their communities.

Education helps shape that future. Yet for children in Gaza, simply accessing consistent learning has become an enormous challenge. UNICEF reported in 2026 that around 700,000 children aged 4–17 had missed formal in-person schooling for almost three school years in a row.

That is why our Back to School support means so much more than handing out stationery.

Through your generosity, Alhamdulillah, we have been able to distribute school kits and essential learning supplies to children and orphans, helping them return to learning properly equipped and ready to grow.

A notebook can become the place where a child's ambitions begin. A pencil can help write the first words of a future teacher, doctor or engineer. A school bag can remind a child that, despite everything, their future still matters.

When the knowledge they gain goes on to benefit themselves, their families and their communities, we pray that Allah allows those who helped make their education possible to continue sharing in that reward.

Insha Allah, Gaza's children will not be defined only by what they have endured, but by what they are given the opportunity to become.

VOICES FROM OUR TEAM ON THE GROUND

From our hands to theirs, from your hearts to Gaza.

There is a moment during every distribution that numbers can never properly capture.

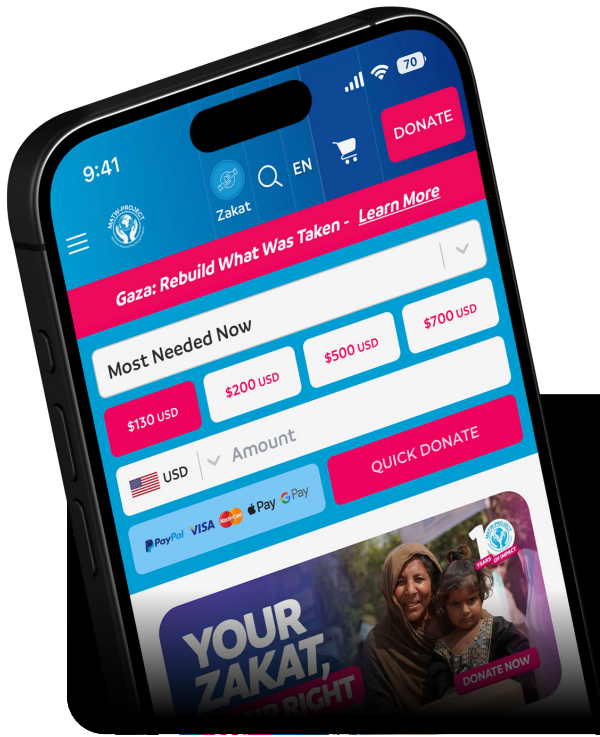

It happens when aid passes from the hands of our team into the hands of a family. We see relief. We see gratitude. Sometimes we see smiles. Sometimes we see tears. And often, we meet people who have endured circumstances that are difficult for us to put into words.

For our teams on the ground, these distributions are deeply personal. They know that every food parcel, wheelchair, school kit, item of clothing or medical service they provide represents an Amanah entrusted to us by a donor.

They are not simply distributing aid. They are carrying your generosity directly to the people of Gaza.

And when beneficiaries make dua for those who remembered them, our teams know exactly who those duas are for: they are for you.

To every donor who has allowed our teams to continue this work: Jazakum Allahu Khairan. May Allah protect our teams on the ground, strengthen the people of Gaza and accept every effort made in their service.

Your impact in your pocket

STAY CONNECTED TO YOUR GIVING THROUGH THE MATW PROJECT APP

Giving should not end when you press Donate. We believe you should be able to stay connected to the impact your generosity helps create.

That is why we have made it easier through the MATW Project App to donate, discover projects and keep track of the impact your giving is helping make.

Whether you want to support an emergency appeal, give your Sadaqah, contribute towards Sadaqah Jariyah or continue helping families in Gaza, you can do it directly from your phone.

More importantly, we want you to feel connected to what happens after your donation. Because your donation is not just a transaction. It is an Amanah. And we want to show you where that Amanah can go.

Download the App

Give wherever you are. Stay connected to your impact. Insha Allah, continue building a legacy of goodness with every act of charity.

You spoke. we listened

BECAUSE YOUR TRUST IS AN AMANAH.

Throughout the year, our donors shared important questions, concerns and feedback about our work in Gaza. We believe your trust is an Amanah, and that means listening carefully, responding transparently and helping you understand how your generosity is being delivered on the ground.

This section is not simply an FAQ. It is our response to what we have heard from you — the questions donors are asking, the concerns they want addressed and the information they need to feel confident about the impact of their giving.

Here are the questions we heard most often — and our response.

1 What has been completed at the Gaza Hospital so far, and what is currently operational?

The Gaza Hospital has already been equipped with a range of essential medical and administrative facilities to support patient care and day-to-day operations.

This includes ultrasound and diagnostic imaging equipment, hospital and examination beds, IV stands, medical seating, examination and follow-up room equipment, patient waiting areas, reception and registration facilities, and an equipped pharmacy unit.

Further development is still underway, including the Radiology and Medical Imaging Unit (MRI).

2 What medical equipment, medicines or supplies are still urgently needed at the hospital?

The Radiology and Medical Imaging Unit, including MRI capability, is currently under implementation, and additional specialised imaging equipment and related supplies are still required.

The hospital also has ongoing needs for essential medicines, anaesthetics, surgical supplies and consumables, diagnostic materials, and other equipment required for emergency care and daily hospital operations. As needs in Gaza can change rapidly, these priorities will continue to evolve.

3 If a donor gives to the Gaza Hospital today, what exactly will their donation help fund?

Donations to the Gaza Hospital help not only to develop and equip the hospital, but also to keep it operational and able to provide essential healthcare. Depending on the hospital's priority needs at the time, donations may support emergency and primary care, maternal and paediatric services, essential medicines, anaesthetics, surgical equipment and consumables, diagnostic supplies, medical equipment, and other critical operational requirements.

Opening the hospital is an important milestone, but sustaining its services requires continued support. Donations help ensure that the hospital can continue treating vulnerable patients as needs arise.

4 What does MATW provide to an orphan under its care?

MATW takes a holistic approach to orphan care, supporting essential needs such as nutritious food, safe housing, education, healthcare, clothing and social care. Depending on the program and location, educational support can include school fees, books, uniforms and tutoring, while healthcare can include medical check-ups and other physical and emotional wellbeing support.

5 What kind of updates can donors receive about the orphans they support?

MATW provides regular orphan-program updates through email newsletters, social media, field photos and videos, annual reports and crisis updates. MATW uses a collective support model rather than linking every donor to an individual child. In active conflict areas such as Gaza, detailed individual reporting may be limited for safety and operational reasons, with general project updates provided until conditions allow more detailed reporting.

6 How does MATW support an orphan's education, food, healthcare and general wellbeing?

MATW's orphan programs are designed to support the child's overall wellbeing rather than addressing just one need.

Depending on the program and location, this can include school fees and educational materials, nutritious meals, safe accommodation, medical check-ups and healthcare, clothing, mentorship, psychosocial support and other essential care.

In Gaza specifically, support for vulnerable children can also include access to food, clean water, shelter, learning programs, psychological support and medical care.

7 After a donor funds a Water Well, what updates or proof of completion do they receive?

For MATW's donor water-well projects, the website states that donors can receive the GPS location, photos and video updates, a donor/dedication plaque, and a detailed completion report. The report can include the facilities installed, estimated daily beneficiaries, photos of the community using the well.

8 How many people typically benefit from a Water Well, and who maintains it after completion?

The number of people benefiting from a water well varies depending on its size, design and location, so there is no single beneficiary figure that applies to every MATW water project.

For example, a hand-pump well in Togo can provide clean water to up to 100 people and is designed to provide access to water for up to 20 years, while larger water projects can serve significantly more people.

Maintenance arrangements can also vary depending on the project and location. Where donors require specific information about long-term maintenance arrangements, this should be confirmed for the individual project.

9 How can donors see where their money has gone and what impact their donation has created?

MATW provides donors with visibility of its work through impact reports, field updates, photos and videos showing projects and distributions being delivered on the ground.

The level of reporting depends on the type of donation. For certain dedicated projects, such as eligible water-well projects, donors can receive more specific completion evidence such as project photos, GPS locations and completion reports.

For broader programs and pooled donations, impact is generally reported at a program or project level rather than linking an individual donor's contribution to one specific beneficiary or item.

10 What exactly does “Where Most Needed” mean, and how does MATW decide where those donations are allocated?

"Where Most Needed" means that a donation is not restricted to one specific project or beneficiary. Instead, it gives MATW the flexibility to direct funds towards people and projects where the need is greatest.

This flexibility allows MATW to respond to changing needs and direct support to areas requiring assistance rather than limiting the donation to one predetermined activity.

Listening is part of accountability.
Responding clearly is part of the trust you place in us.

And the work continues

ALHAMDULILLAH FOR WHAT HAS BEEN POSSIBLE.
INSHA ALLAH FOR WHAT COMES NEXT.

The pages of this report represent only part of the story. The real story lives in the meals shared with families, the movement restored to a beneficiary, the patient cared for, the child returning to learning and the dignity protected through a simple act of generosity.

To every person who donated, shared an appeal, made dua, supported a campaign or encouraged someone else to give: Jazakum Allahu Khairan.

May Allah accept every contribution, multiply it for you and make it a source of relief for the people of Gaza and a source of reward for you in this life and the next.

Ameen Ya Rabbal Alameen

THANK YOU

*May Allah bless you and your wealth
...and accept all your good deeds. Ameen*
